Essay

Offensive books do belong in the library , just in a completely different area , away from the children . If we all chose a book that we didn ' t want in the library , there would be none left . So , since everyone has a different opinion about what is off ens vie and what isn ' t , who ' s to say what can and can ' t be in the library ?

When I was little , my grand ma would take me to the library almost every @ D AT E 1 . I noticed that she tried to keep me from getting certain books and was fine with others . My @ CA PS 1 did the same thing , but they had different opinions on what was okay for me to read and what wasn ' t . Grandma wanted me to get religious books and @ CA PS 1 was okay with that and things like ' @ CA PS 2 the @ CA PS 3 @ CA PS 4 @ CA PS 5 ' , and ' @ P ER SO N 1 ' . Even at home , everyone ' s opinion is very different .

For instance , when it comes to music at my house ; @ CA PS 1 likes country , @ CA PS 7 likes metal , my brother likes alternative , my un l cle likes rock , and I like a comb ona tion of all of it . That just does to show how different people have different opinions ; some more strict than others . If we relied on peoples ' opinions to keep our library s free of offense , there would be nothing in it
